Which LSCB Training is Right for You?

Safeguarding children and protecting them from harm is everyone's responsibility. Everyone who comes into contact with children and families has a part to play. As a practitioner, ensuring your safeguarding knowledge and understanding is up to date is a key part of your role in keeping children and young people safe. Engaging in regular training is an important way to keep updated with new legislation, local practice and network with different agencies.

This training guide will help you identify which level of safeguarding training you need to complete in line with your job role and responsibilities. Please ensure you discuss your training needs with your manager.

Specialist Courses are not applicable to all but are open to everybody (Groups 1-8)

Advanced specialist courses for practitioners who are responsible for a team and/or are involved in the recruiting process.
